REGROUPING OF THE JAPANESE FORCES

Attempt To Drive Wedge In Main Chinese Line

SHOT MAY HAVE COME FROM GALLEY

That the sharp report, heard prior to the discovery of the mortally wounded Leading Seaman Dickinson on board H.M.S. Dorsetshire on May 2, could possibly have come from the galley and not from the booms, was the startling evidence given by a Crown witness at the resumption of the trial of Seaman Edwin Moreland Dwyer, charged with the murder of Leading Seaman Dickinson.

The evidence, which was in favour of the defence, was given by Leading Signaller F. T. Nicholson, before Acting Chief Justice Lindsell, at the Criminal Sessions.

Midshipman Norcock, who heard the shot at 1.33 a.m. on May 2, said he went to the upper deck and found Dickinson bleeding profusely from the head. He sent seamen for medical officers and went to call the Commander. On his return, he noticed there were no lights in the booms.

Cross-examined he admitted that at the naval enquiry he said that he saw lights in the booms, but corrected this statement at the police court.

Hon. Mr. Leo D'Almada: Is it possible that you discussed this incident?—Yes.

Is it possible that the matter of lights in the booms was mentioned?—Yes.

May that have any effect on your present evidence?—No.

Master-at-Arms Matthias, the next witness, described his discovery of an overcoat in the booms, with two buttons and a scarf in the pocket. He went through the pockets looking for ammunition, or a revolver, and was not interested in the coat, to which he attached no importance at the time.

Cross-examined, he said he saw a seaman sleeping in the booms, near the funnel. The man appeared to be asleep.

The only locker he searched on the ship was Dwyer's.

TERRIBLE MESS

Chief Yeoman of Signals, J. P. Bye, stated that he happened to meet Dwyer and another seaman, and on passing them remarked

INTENSE ACTIVITY OF GUERILLAS

Shanghai, To-day.

The present military situation in China is characterised by three factors.

The Japanese see themselves compelled by the flood catastrophe to regroup their forces operating south of the Lunghai railway,

There has been a sudden revival of guerilla warfare throughout the entire region stretching from Peking in the north to the Lunghai railway in the south.

A further advance of the Japanese military and naval forces up to the Yangtse valley.

Those Japanese troops which had been concentrated for an attack upon Hankow from the northeast are at present being transported out of the zone menaced by the floods. The new line of advance is located about 275 kilometres south of Suchow.

The Japanese command is apparently preparing to launch this attack in combination with those troops pressing forward up to the Yangtse Valley. The first objective of this attack would be the heights which form a protective barrier to an advance to Hankow.

MERELY PRELUDE

Despite the booms, the Japanese Yangtse fleet is nevertheless reported to have made its way up the river to within 70 kilometres of the main boom near Kiukiang. An attempt will now be made to drive a wedge into the Chinese main line of defences. Whereas the operations in the Yangtse Valley are merely the prelude to bigger events, considerable military importance attaches to the present phase of large scale guerilla warfare which for the first time reveals itself as being directed by the supreme Chinese army command.

27 DIVISIONS

According to the Japanese accounts the Chinese are employing at least 27 guerilla divisions, some of which are equipped with modern weapons. It is reported that the Yellow River is again sweeping eastwards although the exact direction in which it is flowing cannot yet be ascertained.—Trans-Ocean.

"What a terrible mess." The two replied "yes". Later at about 4 a.m. while witness was sleeping, Dwyer came in and asked him what he meant by saying "what a terrible mess." (Continued on Page 4)

H.M.S. IMOGEN RUSHES TO AID BRITISH SHIP

Valencia, To-day.

It is learned that a seaplane has intercepted the British steamer, African Trader, on the high seas and has ordered her to proceed towards Palma.

In response to an appeal for help, the British destroyer, H.M.S. Imogen has dashed to the African Trader's assistance.

An armed insurgent trawler attacked the British steamer, Stanwold, in the Straits of Gibraltar, according to a Spanish press agency, and fired several shots, but the Stanwold was not hit and reached Gibraltar safely.—Reuter.

CHOLERA

Three further cases of cholera were reported to the Medical Department yesterday, one each from Victoria, Kowloon and Aberdeen. One of the cases was recorded as imported.

FURTHER AMOY OPERATIONS?

Canton, To-day.

Reports from Amoy suggest that the Japanese may be planning to land a large force on the mainland and push towards Changchow. — Our Own Correspondent.

What The Stars Foretell

By MARY BLAKE

If June 23 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 9:15 to 11:15 A.M.; from 3:15 to 5:15 P.M., and from 8:15 to 10:15 P.M. The danger periods are from 7:15 to 9:15 A.M.: from 5:15 to 7:15 P.M., and from 10:15 P.M., until midnight.

You should be able to accomplish anything you make up your mind to do this day. The important thing is not to get discouraged. Gossip is likely to involve many people in trouble, by spreading erroneous impressions and causing a great deal of injustice. This might be a difficult day to hold on to money, for there may be numerous temptations to spend it. Your physical, mental and spiritual powers may be tested, and before the day is over you might experience a feeling of deep satisfaction over the way they have withstood any strain imposed upon them. Your personal magnetism should be exceptionally strong this day, with the result that new friendships may be formed and many advantages gained commercially or socially. A large variety of claims and statements probably will be responsible for a number of inspections being made. Married and engaged couples, as well as those who are about to become engaged, must display a spirit of loyalty this day.

If a woman and June 23 is your birthday, your intellectual growth may surprise your friends. It would seem you are going to attract considerable attention through some outstanding achievement. Several unexpected journeys are likely to keep your life from becoming humdrum. Keep yourself free from prejudices, for they can hamper your progress. You perhaps are not fond of doing anything in a spectacular way, so your unobtrusive methods apparently will provide many gratifying surprises to your family and friends. As a sculptress, author, actress, singer, musician, artist, or business woman there appears to be no limitation to what you are capable of doing. Your ideas regarding marriage are likely to be very sensible and should be conducive to your having a happy married life.

The child born on June 23, frequently hides its light under a bushel. Encouragement is essential to this youngster's ultimate success. It will be important for this child to learn to spend wisely and to save judiciously.

If a man and June 23 is your natal day, your greatest suffering can come from lacking complete control of your temper. You ought to be excellent in planning and promoting. As a politician, theologian, journalist, sales agent, contractor, painter or engineer your reputation may become second to none.

Original Ideas In Decoration

By ELIZABETH MacRAE BOYKIN

"I'm as vain as a peacock," announced Gertrude. "About my red hair, I mean. It's my crowning glory so why shouldn't I make the most of it. Goodness knows, there's nothing else about me to rave over."

"So, naturally now that I'm going to get married and have a home of my own, I want decorations that are becoming to my hair. I'd like blue for the main colour partly because it's nice on me and also because I have a blue footstool, blue vases and good blue rugs to begin with. But beyond that I'm stuck. I think I'll concentrate spending on the sitting room, and really make that complete and handsome. The other rooms I'll only furnish enough now to get along. But what about rug, wall colour, furniture and curtains for the living room? The room is light and good sized but the floors are bad. My family are giving me a new piano in blonde mahogany. I'd adore something different and striking in colours. Would appreciate any help you can give."

WITH YELLOW AND WHITE

Could you take the idea of dark walls? Because rather a deep brilliant blue for the walls would be becoming to you and awfully smart. Then have your new settee in a yellow linen cover and cover two easy chairs in flowered linen on a white ground. Make a pair of flowered cushions to match to go on the yellow settee and at the windows hang billowy white embroidered organdy curtains made very full and to sweep down to the floor. Repeat the yellow in the bases of your lamps and in porcelain ornaments.

Other purchases you should count on needing would include small incidental tables, and perhaps a desk or a pair of cabinets. In making out your budget, don't forget to plan on such necessities as window shades, picture frames, curtain rods, lamps and ash trays. Things that can "add up" if you don't count them in your budget.

CHEERFUL KITCHENS

By ELIZABETH MacRAE BOYKIN

Winifred's kitchen is the cheeriest place. It has all the conveniences, that's true, but some way it manages to seem so much more friendly and hospitable than the usual starkly clingy kitchens.

LIKE A PEASANT PETTICOAT

That green and white checked tiled floor is one reason. And the light crisp green walls do their share, too. But we think the yellow curtains have the most to do with it. There are two wide tiers of windows, and Winifred has made yellow percale curtains tied back crisply. Then across the top she has valances of the brightest red printed cotton in a Tyrolean peasant pattern finished with rows of bias tape in yellow and green, like a peasant petticoat.

Yellow oil cloth covers table and cupboard work surfaces and the shelves are all painted yellow. The canisters and kitchen dishes are in light green and all the pots and pans are in aluminium and chromium.

MY STARS!

We liked Ethel's kitchen, too. It's quite different from Winifred's — no bigger than a minute for one thing, with white walls and a plain red floor. Ethel cut out stencils of stars in different sizes and painted them bright blue hit or miss over the ceiling with some odd ones on the side walls. White canisters got blue stars painted on them too. And even the white swiss curtains had bright blue stars appliqued over them.

Winifred's kitchen is friendly and hospitable.

rible mess." Witness replied stating that he referred to the shooting of Dickinson.

Witness continued that he further said to Dwyer "What a terrible state of affairs; a murderer at large on the ship, and we don't know who will be the next victim."

Witness added that he was upset, but Dwyer did not appear to be upset at all. In fact Dwyer commented that he (Dwyer) for one was not sorry that Dickinson was gone as he had many enemies in the ship.

Witness concluded that he had heard previously no adverse remarks made concerning Dickinson.

DRYING DECK

Ordinary Seaman D. Harris testified that Dwyer was detailed by Dickinson to dry the deck, when the ship was at Singapore. While doing such work, Dwyer complained to witness "he treats me like a dog. I will get him for it." Witness admitted that such work was usually done by ordinary seamen and "boys." After that, accused and deceased did not seem to like each other.

When Dwyer relieved witness in the wheel-house at about 2.15 a.m. on May 2, Dwyer remarked that "They are running around below like a lot of pregnant prostitutes."

At about 4.05 a.m., witness met Dwyer in the Recreation Space. Dwyer was wearing an oilskin and carrying an overcoat.

"MUDDLED" OVER PHONE

Able-Seaman F. Bickering stated that Dwyer "muddled" over the telephone in the wheel-house. This, witness added, was not unusual although he regarded Dwyer as brilliant. It did not strike witness as being odd.

Cross-examined witness replied that Dwyer, when "muddling" over the telephone did not appear to be disturbed in any way.

THE REPORT

Leading Signaller F. T. Nicholson stated that about 1.40 a.m. he heard a sharp report. At 3.15 a.m. he met Dwyer when he went to locate a light on the port side of the ship. They conversed and reference was made to the tragedy. Dwyer expressed surprise and said that he was not sorry as there was only one man in the ship he disliked most.

Cross-examined, witness admitted that at the Board of Inquiry he answered in the following manner:

"Could you see the booms from where you were standing?"—"Yes, two and a half feet from the edge of the boom inward, in fact, it was impossible for the rifle to explode with such a weak report as heard from the compass platform."

"Have you heard that anyone else detested Dickinson?"—"Yes, I heard one or two ordinary seamen and young able-seamen say that Dickinson was chasing around."

Questioned further, witness replied that he had been in rifle teams before, and according to witness' opinion, judging from the boom which was only 12 yards away from the compass platform where he had been standing, if it was a rifle shot.

Witness added that it was quite possible that the shot came from the galley.

The case is continuing this afternoon.

RUMANIAN LONDON VISIT

Bucharest, To-day.

Commenting upon the former Rumanian Premier Tatarescu's visit to London, the "Vreme" reports yesterday that according to views expressed by well-informed Rumanian circles, his mission is to examine the possibilities of securing an armaments loan and also to become acquainted with the British attitude concerning the international situation.

The paper intimates that M. Tatarescu's journey bears a direct connection with the visit of King Carol, to Istanbul, and his conferences with the President of the Turkish Republic.—Trans-Ocean.

BRITAIN AND MEXICO

London, To-day.

The British Government is eager to settle differences with Mexico in a fair and sensible manner, declared the Under-Secretary in the British Foreign Office, Mr. Butler, yesterday.

Mexico's attitude and her action in severing diplomatic relations, went on Mr. Butler, have thus far rendered any such settlement impossible.—Trans-Ocean.

NO CHANGE IN POUND-DOLLAR EXCHANGE

London, To-day.

A Commons question to the Chancellor of the Exchequer asked whether, in view of the fact that British export trade was being seriously damaged by the fall in the price level of primary commodities and this, in turn, largely the result of adverse developments in the United States he would consider the desirability of recommending action designed to alter the present sterling dollar exchange rate and raise the sterling level of commodity prices.

The Financial Secretary to the Treasury replied in the negative.

He said the Chancellor did not consider the action suggested would be likely to achieve the purpose stated and added it would be contrary both to the tripartite currency agreement and the statutory provisions governing the use of the exchange equalisation account. — British Wireless.

MONUMENT TO LORD ASQUITH

London, To-day.

The Prime Minister received at the House of Commons yesterday afternoon, a deputation which urged that steps should be taken for erection in the precincts of Palace of Westminster of a monument with a suitable inscription to the late Lord Oxford and Asquith.

The deputation consisted of Mr. Lloyd George, Mr. Winston Churchill, Mr. Attlee, Sir Archibald Sinclair, Mr. Amery and Sir Percy Harris.

The Prime Minister expressed his agreement with the proposal, and his readiness in view of the unanimous support which was represented by the deputation to move the necessary resolution in Parliament. — British Wireless.

BUSINESS SLUMP DENIED

London, To-day.

The Prime Minister declined to accept a suggestion that there was a business slump, which occurred in an exchange with a Labour member at Commons question time.

He assured the House, however, that the departments concerned had the possibility of a cyclical recession in economic activity and measures desirable to meet it constantly under review. — British Wireless.

U.S. APPROACH TO REDUCTION OF ARMAMENTS

London, To-day.

In a Commons answer, the Prime Minister referred to Mr. Cordell Hull's recent statement that the United States were prepared to join with other nations in moving resolutely toward bringing about an effective agreement on the limitation and progressive reduction of armaments, and said: "As I have already stated His Majesty's Government are in full agreement with these sentiments and will neglect no suitable opportunity of co-operating with the United States and other Governments to attain these objects."

Replying to a supplementary question, Mr. Chamberlain remarked: "If any invitation is addressed to us (by the United States Government, we shall certainly respond to it." — British Wireless.

A series of new trials on Codreanu's followers will begin on Saturday, the defendants including 21 leaders of the former "Iron Guard." — Trans-Ocean.

CANTON GIVING REFUGEES NEW START ON LAND

Canton, To-day.

Kwangtung is expected to have a record rice harvest this year, according to a preliminary survey.

Recalling that last year's first crop was 10 per cent. over that of normal years, Dr. D. Y. Lin,
Director of the Kwangtung
Bureau of Agriculture and Forestry, declared in an interview with the staff correspondent of the "China Mail" to-day, that he was most optimistic over this year's prospects.

Harvest of the first crop last year produced 61,625,270 piculs for 97 hsien, and indications are that this

Food supply in wartime being of major importance, over $3,910,000 have been loaned out to farmers in the last three months, chiefly by the Kwangtung Provincial Bank.

Of this sum, $1,000,000 is for military development and colonisation work, $1,000,000 for sugar-cane plantations, $500,000 for sericultural work, $350,000 for the Hok
Shan Project, $60,000 for the Yang Tsun Project and $1,000,000 for loans to different rural co-operative societies.

FURTHER LOANS

In view of the under-capitalised condition of the rural districts today, further loans to farmers are expected to be made for the Autumn crops, Dr. Lin stated.

Dr. Lin said that there are vast areas of land, totalling over 14, 000,000 mow, which are as yet undeveloped.

In this connection, Dr. Lin stated, the Provincial Government's plans for colonisation and development of the huge tracts of unused land, are being put into operation.

REFUGEES STARTED OUT

Refugees from Canton are being sent to these areas to work the land. First of these settlements was at Pok Lo, where more than 300 refugees have started their labours.

They have been given sufficient food, shelter and facilities for production, and further refugees will be sent as soon as the necessary preparations can be made.

Dr. Lin hopes that the refugees will become self-supporting after a year or two.

U.S. PROTEST AGAINST NEW INCIDENT

Shanghai, To-day.

It is understood that a formal protest is to be lodged by the United States Consul-General, following the completion of full investigation into the detention yesterday of Mr. F. W. Blackburn and Mr. J. G. Pase, two American subjects, by the Japanese Naval Landing Party sentries on the Garden Bridge for about forty minutes.

No reason, it is understood, has been given by the Japanese for their action and no apologies have been tendered. — Reuter.

PLAY TIME IN THE COMMONS

London, To-day.

In the House of Commons yesterday Mr. Mander asked how far the Chinese requests at the Council in Geneva yesterday regarding the extension of the League's health services in China to prevent epidemics, for loans and for action to assist China under Articles Eleven and Seventeen of the Covenant were being carried out?

Mr. R. A. Butler replied that the general position with regards to assistance was as stated in the House of Commons on June 14.

With regard to the last part of the question, the Chinese representative at the Council in May did not demand action by the League under Articles Eleven and Seventeen. The Council, however, remained seized of the original Chinese appeal under Articles Ten, Eleven and Seventeen.

CHINESE COUNTER-ATTACK

Yuhshih And Chungmow Retaken From Japanese

Doihara Troops Withdrawing Over Yellow River

Chengchow, To-day.

The Chinese counter-attack on the eastern section of the Lunghai Railway and in east Honan has reaped tangible results.

Both Yuhshih, 45 kilometres southwest of Kaifeng, and Chungmow, 29 kilometres west of Kaifeng, were recaptured by the Chinese yesterday morning.

The Japanese troops inside Kaifeng city are now reported to be withdrawing across the Yellow River to north Honan. About 6,000 have already crossed the river at Luiyuankow, north of Kaifeng.

The Japanese aerodrome at Kweih was raided by Chinese guerrillas on the night of June 20. On the same night the Lipatsi station was attacked who used handgrenades with great effect.

Yuhshih was retaken by the Chinese in a concerted attack from all sides. The Japanese are fleeing in two columns, one to the southeast and the other to the northeast.

PARTLY SUBMERGED

The Chinese on re-entering the city found it partly submerged in water. A vast expanse of water measuring four or five feet deep stretches to the east of the city for about 10 miles. Villages in the northern suburbs are also inundated.

Under cover of darkness, a Chinese column stealthily waded through the flood waters to Chungmow on Tuesday night. They attacked at daybreak yesterday and the Japanese, who were barricading the city gates against the flood, fled in all directions. About 100 of them were surrounded by the Chinese at the railway station.

The Chinese broke into the city and after sharp street fighting captured a large quantity of arms and ammunition.—Central News.

SWATOW GOES WITHOUT LIGHT

Canton, To-day.

Swatow was without electric light last night.

The electric power house was hit when Japanese planes rained bombs on the outskirts of the port. Damage was done to part of the machinery and repairs have not yet been completed. Part of the building was wrecked.

The railway station was among the Japanese objects in yesterday's raid, but all attempts to hit the terminus of the Swatow-Chao-An Line were unsuccessful.

Last night a train left for Chao-An carrying a large number of refugees out of the city.—Our Own Correspondent.

Hoihow, To-day.

Another visit here was made by a lone Japanese plane yesterday noon. It conducted a reconnaissance and flew away shortly afterwards without dropping bombs.

It is learned that two Japanese warships were sighted off Linkao, west of here, yesterday noon but later steamed away.—Central News.

SWATOW'S FIRST DAYS IN THE WAR ZONE

Swatow, To-day.

Chinese defence forces on Namoa Island, have now withdrawn to Lungoa and Wunoa to the west of Namoa city, where they are resorting to guerilla tactics.

Desultory rifle fire from the island was still audible yesterday, indicating Chinese resistance.

Meanwhile, Swatow spent a day of nervousness as Japanese naval planes conducted extensive reconnaissance flights and released bombs on three occasions.

Around 7 o'clock in the morning, a lone enemy machine dumped explosives on the Chaochow-Swatow Railway.

Another Japanese bomber came over at 10 o'clock. Flying low, it dropped several bombs and machine-gunned the streets.

A third visit to the city was made around 3 o'clock in the afternoon. Three bombs were dropped at Wukiu in the heart of the city, and five more near the railway station.

Simultaneous with this attack, Japanese warships trained their guns on the south harbour of Tanghai, to northeast, firing more than 20 shells.

One hour later, they shelled Chaoyang and Haimen to the south. Six Japanese planes directed the fire by dropping flares. They also rained a number of leaflets in the Swatow area.—Central News.

ALLEGED "SPIES" PLEAD NOT GUILTY

New York, To-day.

Four defendants who were indicted on charges of espionage on June 6, pleaded not guilty yesterday and bail was fixed at $5,000 each.

The presiding judge ordered that bench warrants be issued for the other fourteen persons indicted, most of whom were believed to be in Germany, including the two defendants described as being officials of the German War Ministry.—Reuter.

SERUM AGAINST FOOT & MOUTH DISEASE

Berlin, To-day.

Serum for immunising cattle, sheep and hogs against foot and mouth disease had been developed by the German Research workers in the State Research Institute, on Riems Island near Greifswald, it was announced here yesterday.

Following the first announcement that the serum had been perfected, the Reich Minister of the Interior ordered a large scale experiment by veterinary doctors throughout the Reich on about 50,000 cattle and thousands of other animals, and the results now published indicate that the serum is completely successful in immunising an animal for a period of three months or more.

The necessary establishment for mass production of the serum is now being created, so that an active campaign against this most serious livestock scourge can be commenced.

SPANISH GOVERNMENT LOYALTY

Barcelona, To-day.

The Spanish Communist Party announced yesterday that it will stand solidly behind the government of Dr. Juan Negrin. In an official Party communique, it was declared that all popular front parties should support the Government to the utmost. It is believed that this statement was issued in order to combat current rumours to the effect that differences of opinion had arisen within the Republican Spanish Government.—Trans-Ocean.

DR. HODZA "TOO CONCILITORY"

Prague, To-day.

Political circles here believe that considerable divergencies are manifesting themselves within the Coalition Parties supporting the government, mainly owing to the Social Democratic criticism of the "too conciliatory attitude," which Dr. Hodza is accused of adopting toward the demands of the Sudeten German Party.

The leading Democratic organ, "Pravo Lidus", reproaches the Premier with conducting negotiations with the Henlein Party alone and with not seeking the assistance of the representatives of Coalition Parties.—Trans-Ocean.

SWARM OF LOCUSTS OVER MADRID

Paris, To-day.

Madrid was visited yesterday by a huge swarm of locusts according to reports received here.

Numerous streets and squares are said to be covered with the insects and fires are being ignited in the different parts of the city to destroy them.—Trans-Ocean.

PRES. MOSCICKI TAKES HOLIDAY

Warsaw, To-day.

The President of the Polish Republic, Ignace Moscicki, left here Wednesday with his wife for six weeks vacation in Laurana on the Adriatic.—Trans-Ocean.

THE DAILY SHORT STORY

THE FATAL MISTAKE.

Men gain notoriety for curious things. With Police Inspector Isaac Ranny it was an expression. "The point is just here," he would prefix a sentence, and what followed would usually be so astounding in its revelation that people of criminal propensities came to dread the sound of those words. To the underworld Inspector Ranny became known by that phrase. It marked him.

Livia Bergen knew this. The papers had made quite a human interest story out of the idea, and she remembered reading it. She stood with her back to the wall, flattened out against it, which pose was, actually, for support rather than for the dramatic possibilities one might have expected her to be suggesting. For Livia was an actress.

"The point is just here—" Inspector Ranny had begun, and stopped abruptly, darting a quick, curious look in her direction. In this moment her histrionic accomplishments proved valuable, for she conjured a faint, sad smile. She wondered if her face was

She couldn't listen to those words again. Yet she was compelled to.

"No one need know why I am doing this. Suffice it to say I will be happier dead than alive . . . My body will be found on the ground below the north window of my studio . . . four stories. . . ."

It sounded like Albert. She had made it sound like Albert. She had thought herself very clever. . . .

The man whom Inspector Ranny had sent out came back and whispered something in his chief's ear.

"Fifty thousand dollars!" she heard Ranny ejaculate. "Insurance?"

Livia pressed even closer to the wall. The fools! That wasn't it. That wasn't the reason she had killed him. She had plenty of money. Earl had more. . . . This proved what fools they were. It proved she was right. She had been able to outsmart them. She was clever. More clever than the police. . . . Yet, if they proved she had killed him, what difference did the motive make? . . . How could they prove as white as she felt it must be. She wondered if the barely perceptible trembling of her hands had been discerned by the mild-mannered policeman.

By Carlton James.

Dwarfing all this was the sound of those hated words. It was like a death knell. She tried to remember whether the newspapers had said the man only employed the phrase when he was absolutely positive of the facts. A sort of summing up. She was afraid the newspapers had said it. And that meant—he knew she had killed her husband.

Inspector Ranny turned his eyes away from her and said something to one of the men who had come in with him. The man nodded and went out. Then Ranny walked over to the window, opened it, and looked down. A sort of horrible cold wave passed through her body. She could see even more plainly than he the sight that greeted his eyes: The hideously crumpled and broken form of Albert lying in a heap four stories below.

Ranny turned away from the window. Deliberately he crossed to the desk in the centre of the room. It was a paper-littered desk, containing a typewriter. It was the desk where Albert had sat and written his plays. He had sat there and created the play that had borne her to stardom. Stardom and the meeting with dashing young Earl Yates, her leading man—her lover.

Inspector Ranny picked up the sheet of paper that a moment before he had placed on the corner of the desk, and spread it out in his hands. He cleared his throat. She wanted to scream at him. She wanted to snatch the paper out of his hands and fling the pieces hysterically into his face.

It was silly, this sense of dread and horror that that stupid phrase had conjured. What could he know? She had thought of everything . . . The note had been typed on Albert's machine. How could they guess the manner she had lured him to the window and then fallen against him? The fools! They must know she had not the strength to lift a big man like Albert . . . to carry him all the way across the room. . . .

Inspector Ranny cleared his throat again. She seemed to stop breathing. There was no longer a trembling in her limbs. There was no movement or sign of life about her at all. Life had flowed out of her, leaving only the shell that was her body leaning there against the wall. She—her being, her personality—was something detached, waiting with a curious sort of amusement for Inspector Ranny to begin his sentence.

Now he was ready. He was coming across the room toward her, looking very sober, but harmless, almost apologetic. That was what warned her. Men didn't look apologetic unless they had a painful duty to perform.

She knew ages and ages before he started to speak that whatever he said would be prefixed by the phrase that had come to distinguish him among other men of his calling.

"The point is just here, Mrs. Bergen, you told us nothing in the room had been disturbed. If your husband had committed suicide he couldn't have returned, after killing himself, to close the window through which he had jumped, now could—" Inspector Ranny reached out to catch the slowly crumbling form.

GERMANY SOUNDS WARNING

Non-Intervention Accord Well Received, But

Diplomacy And Political Realities

Berlin, To-day.

The accord reached by the Non-Intervention Committee has been well received in Germany although a note of warning against premature optimism with regard to the immediate future is sounded in the German newspapers.

The diplomatic tussle to dispose of the Spanish problem, says the "Hamburger Fremdenblatt," has undoubtedly made considerable headway. Moscow has been compelled under the combined pressure of Germany, Britain, Italy and France.

ANGLO-GERMAN TRADE TALKS RESUMED

London, To-day.

The exchange of views between Dr. Wiehl, leader of the German delegation to the Anglo-German trade negotiations in London, and Sir Frederick Leith-Ross, Economic Adviser to the British Government was resumed yesterday afternoon.

It is understood that the present talks are mainly concerned with the drawing up of a programme for the negotiations proper which will follow in due course.

A further meeting between Dr. Wiehl and Sir Frederick Leith-Ross has been fixed for this forenoon.

The prospect of reaching an accord on the main points at issue are regarded by competent British circles to be much more favourable than they were a few days ago. It is hinted that the British delegation which visited Berlin probably failed at the time to appreciate the German standpoint and had drawn too hasty conclusions. — Trans-Ocean.

FLOATING DOCK REACHES THE FAR EAST

Moscow, To-day.

Following a voyage of 11,000 miles through ten seas a floating dock intended for the Soviet Pacific fleet and destined for Kamchatka Peninsula has arrived at its destination according to reports received here yesterday.

The Soviet press has followed the progress of the dock for the past several months and emphasises its importance to the naval armaments in the Far East. — Trans-Ocean.

Mrs. R. J. Stevens was this morning fined $15, through a representative, by Mr. K. M. A. Barnett at the Kowloon Magistracy, when summoned for allowing her dog to wander in Argyle Street without a muzzle.

It deserves to be noted, however, that there still remains the old discrepancy between word diplomacy and make-believe at the conference table and that of political realities. The question is asked whether France and the Soviet are really prepared for the sake of peace with Italy to rescind measures which have served during the last few months to prolong Spain's cruel agony.

As regards France, this comment goes on to say, one can be somewhat more hopeful in this respect now that the Popular Front policy has broken down.

RESERVED ATTITUDE

Likewise the "Deutsche Politische Korrespondenz," expresses the view that there is ample reason for adopting a reserved attitude when it comes to pronouncing a judgment on the present prospects. It alleged numerous instances of violation of non-intervention committed on the Spanish Republican frontier and hopes they will not be repeated.

Neither must it be forgotten, declares "Korrespondenz," that there is still a lively shipping going on in Spanish coastal waters which are no less suitable for transport of war material than land communications.

TRUCE RUMOUR

This semi-official German commentary points out that rumours about a truce in Spain can at the present moment serve only to revive the broken powers of resistance of Republican Spain. — Trans-Ocean.

LOSS OF GERMAN CITIZENSHIP

Berlin, To-day.

Another long list of persons, 74 altogether, who have been deprived of German citizenship, is published in the "Deutsche Reichsanzeiger."

The list includes Gottfried Treviranus and his family. Treviranus was a politician who played a prominent part in the Brüning Government and left the country upon National Socialism coming to power.

The name of the film comedian, Otto Wallburg, whose real name is Otto Wasserzug, also appears in the list. — Trans-Ocean.

ITALY, FRANCE AND BRITAIN

London, To-day.

In the Commons at question-time, the Prime Minister was asked by Mr. Arthur Henderson, (Labour) what representations had been received from the Italian Government that the coming into effect of the Rome Agreement be expedited.

Mr. Chamberlain replied: "In the course of an exchange of views which, from time to time, have taken place between the two governments, the Italian Government have made plain their desire, in which the British Government fully participate, that the agreement should be brought into force at the earliest possible moment consistent with the fulfilment of prerequisite conditions."

Mr. Henderson then asked: "In view of the fact that the Italian Government have suspended negotiations with the French Government, will the Prime Minister give an assurance that the Italian Government will not be permitted to drive a wedge between this country and France."

The Premier said: "I have no reason to suppose the Italian Government wish to drive a wedge between us and the French." — British Wireless.

BRITAIN'S ARMS CREDIT TO TURKEY

London, To-day.

Replying to a question in the House of Commons yesterday, the Prime Minister, Mr. Chamberlain, said that in concluding the armaments credit agreement with Turkey, the British Government had not asked for guarantees that the arms to be delivered by England to Turkey would not one day be used against England itself.

England would not have extended a credit of this sort to Turkey had it not been able to repose full confidence in the friendly ties existing between Turkey and England. — Trans-Ocean.

DIPLOMATIC CALL ON PREMIER

London, To-day.

Yesterday afternoon in his room at the House of Commons, the Prime Minister received Mr. Norman Davies, the American Ambassador at Large, and the German Ambassador in London, Dr. Dirksen. — British Wireless.

FLOODS HOLD UP OPERATIONS

Shanghai, To-day.

Apart from reports reaching here of a further advance by the Japanese in the Yangtse region, everything goes to indicate that the flood disaster is continuing to hold up the military operations in China.

According to Japanese accounts, the column of Japanese troops which had been advancing southwards from Luchow in the Anhwei province have effected the juncture 35 kilometres north of Anking with the column that had been advancing northwards from Anking. Other Japanese detachments which had pressed forward from Tsien-shan along the same road are reported to be engaging Chinese forces in the mountainous region west of Tsien-shan. An attempt of the Japanese to take the town of Taihu seems to have been frustrated by the Chinese defenders.

There is no confirmation here of reports about landing Japanese forces in the neighbourhood of Swatow.

A spokesman of Japanese marine authorities here has declared that all reports to that effect are incorrect. — Trans-Ocean.

NEW FRANCO OFFENSIVE

Saragossa, To-day.

General Franco's forces launched a new offensive on the entire Teruel front yesterday. The main thrust was carried out with great vigour and made on the road from Teruel to Sagunto in southern direction. Other strong detachments are smashing their way eastwards from Teruel. Strongly fortified Republican defences have been pierced at several points. By yesterday noon the insurgent troops had advanced nearly four miles. A later report received at half past three in the afternoon says that the insurgents were 20 miles south of Teruel and six miles south of Puebla de Valverde.

The important town of Sarrion has been completely encircled by the insurgents. General Franco's forces have also resumed their advance on the coastal sector and are reported to have captured several heights south of the Mijares River. — Trans-Ocean.

NO NEW FLOTILLA THIS YEAR

London, To-day.

After further consideration of the adequacy of the destroyer strength of the Navy, and of the new construction programme, the Government have decided not to include a flotilla of destroyers in the current year's programme. This information was given to the Commons by the Parliamentary Secretary to the Admiralty at question-time. — British Wireless.

A forty-four-year-old widow, Wong Yee, was this morning charged before Mr. W. J. Lockhart Smith, at the Central Magistracy, for the possession of 6,492-heroin pills and eight tael of raw opium, at 190 Queen's Road West. The case was remanded for 24 hours.

POLICE RAID

We are not sure whether indignation is the right note to sound with reference to the now highly publicised police raid on the offices of the "China Mail" yesterday afternoon. It is true that we regard it as a totally unwarranted display of the powers of autocratic bureaucracy, but we have no cause for complaint of unpleasantness by those carrying out orders from above, and if they left the normal disorder a good deal worse confounded, that perhaps was to be expected. There was, in fact, an element of humour to be discovered, in the careful scrutiny of unpaid bills and the MSS of budding short story writers, in the poring over papers which had long lost their meaning even to members of the staff, all in quest of an imaginary document which the responsible official leading the party had no reason to believe existed and was assured had never existed.

At such a time as this, however, when the freedom of the press and of the public, which invariably go hand in hand, has been extinguished in so many countries, and when we still take the other careless attitude "It can't happen here" when thinking of countries like France, the United States, and Britain, (including it is always presumed the British Empire) it becomes necessary to be watchful of every public right and privilege expecially when they are arbitrarily invaded by Nazi Storm Trooper tactics. Such issue as lies between the police department and the "China Mail", through its Sunday publication, the "Sunday Herald", hinges on a well-known and vital point of journalistic ethics. The unwritten law of the Fourth Estate is that without the express authority of any individual concerned, names of informants shall not be disclosed. It is a rule that is under no circumstances broken. It has been challenged in the courts of every democratic country in the world and never has the challenge succeeded. The employment by the D.C.I.'s department of mailed-fist methods in an attempt to smash through an ethical objection to disclosure which would be elementary to a cub reporter, seems to us to carry a moral somewhere as well as to threaten, if allowed to pass without protest, a serious frontal assault on the general liberties of the press in Hong Kong.

The police force here is large and powerful and, judging from closer observation than we are usually afforded, reasonably efficient. Are we to believe, with such a force at the disposal of the powers-that-be, that information available to the small staff of a newspaper cannot be gathered by the police except at the sacrifice by a journalist of his self-respect?

The "Royal" Porpoise

To "catch a Crab", or to "catch a Tartar", are actions that are well known to be followed by troublesome consequences to the one making the capture; but it appears from the recent experience of the skipper of the Dutch vessel "Johanna Hendrika," that to catch a porpoise is no less to be avoided.

For Britain regards the porpoise as a "royal" fish, and as soon as he reached harbour the skipper discovered that he must make an exhaustive report on his prize to no less than five authorities — the Customs, the Receiver of Wrecks, the Port Medical Officer, the Port Sanitary Authority, and the Natural History Museum — and await their pleasure. The captor finds, indeed, that for some time through all his affairs one increasing porpoise runs.

Our sympathy must go to the harassed skipper: the trouble was not of his seeking; for the porpoise arrived uninvited upon the deck of the "Johanna." One might have guessed as much, because the manners of the tribe have never been good, if one may judge from that other episode, when "Will you walk a little faster," said the whiting to the snail,

There's a porpoise close behind me, and he's treading on my tail."

In addition, the porpoise is something of a practical joker, and, with the aid of several companions, has before now imposed on mariners with a very credible imitation of a sea-serpent; and he has even been suspected of impersonating the Loch Ness Monster.

CHINA AIR FLEET TO PROTECT HANKOW

Hundred New French Planes Coming From Indo-China

More Bombers Expected Before End Of June

Hankow, To-day.

With the Japanese push to Hankow growing nearer and nearer, preparations are being actively completed in order to concentrate the entire Chinese Air Force here to defend the city.

It has been reliably learned that 80 bombers and 100 pursuit planes have already been concentrated in Hankow, or are on their way.

At least 100 more bombers are promised to arrive here before the end of June, while 100 French pursuit planes have started on their way to Hankow from Indo-China.

Chinese planes hitherto have been unable to participate actively in engagements on the various fronts, it has been pointed out, as there are not enough pursuit planes to protect bombers too far away from their base.

This also, it is stated, will explain why the Chinese Air Force has not sent any pursuit planes to Canton in an effort to challenge the Japanese in their daily raids there.

DEFENCE OF HANKOW

The official military view is that, owing to the smallness of the Chinese air force, planes must be concentrated at a few strategic centres to protect Chinese bombers against Japanese raids and also protect the Chinese bombers when they go on bombing missions.

Once they are separated, they are not powerful enough to protect Canton or to defend Hankow. They must sacrifice one and, under the present circumstances, it has been decided to concentrate on the defence of Hankow. — Reuter.

Choose White Horse — A joy to the palate

Its taste is so distinctive, its aroma and bouquet so satisfying. Then it is always soft and smooth to the palate, always sets perfectly, always acts as a splendid bracer.

These virtues result from extraordinary care in selecting the choicest whiskies and from patience in ageing in wood and unusual skill in the blending and "marrying." Whisky such as White Horse—real old Scotch—can be made no other way. That is why you should always ask for it by name.

King Witnesses Mock Gas Attack On Warships

London, To-day.

The King returned to London yesterday after a busy day spent with the Home Fleet.

His Majesty visited the naval establishments in Portsmouth later and saw one of the latest warships in action in Weymouth Bay.

When he boarded the cruiser Southampton, all the officers and men, including the Admiral of the Fleet, were wearing gas-masks and steel helmets.

A gas attack from enemy aircraft was staged while methods to extinguish fires from incendiary bombs and the contamination of mustard gas was demonstrated.

His Majesty saw the anti-aircraft guns in action and the Southampton's planes catapulted into the air to engage the enemy.

MARKED PROGRESS

Before the King disembarked he signalled the Fleet: "Splice the mainbrace." His Majesty also sent a message to the Commander-in-Chief, wherein he congratulated all ranks on their high efficiency and tone and on the marked progress which he saw being made in every direction.—Reuter.

TWO-DAY VISIT

At the conclusion of his two-day visit to the Home Fleet, the King sent the following message to the Commander-in-Chief, Home Fleet, and the Captain-in-Charge at Portland:

"My short visit to the Home Fleet has afforded me the greatest pleasure and has also been full of interest for me. I congratulate all ranks and ratings both afloat and ashore on their high standard of efficiency, and on the marked progress I can see is being made in every direction."

His Majesty spent the morning inspecting shore establishments at Portland Dockyard. At the Anti-Submarine School, he spent a considerable time inspecting the newest devices for detecting and dealing with submarines.

In the afternoon, for over an hour, he toured the cruiser Southampton while many phases of a modern sea battle were actively rehearsed. At the moment of the King's arrival, a gas attack by enemy aircraft was supposed to be imminent, and officers and ratings all in gas masks were ready to defend the ship.

WALRUS DEMONSTRATION

As His Majesty went forward along the quarter deck, anti-aircraft guns were firing at imaginary enemy planes and suddenly a Walrus amphibian aircraft was catapulted across the deck at terrific speed and soared up to meet imaginary raiders.

Aircraftmen, ghostly figures in gas masks and protective clothing, pushed into the hangard, brought out a second Walrus, hoisted her on the catapulting machinery, and in a remarkably short time, she was in the air.

It was a triumph of organisation and an impressive display of the cruiser's air defence forces.

The Royal Salute was fired as the King left the Victoria and Albert in the Royal Barge for the shore and holiday crowds and townsfolk lined the streets of Weymouth and cheered His Majesty enthusiastically as he drove to the station and entrained for London.—British Wireless.

FRANCO-TURKISH DISCUSSION

Beirut, To-day.

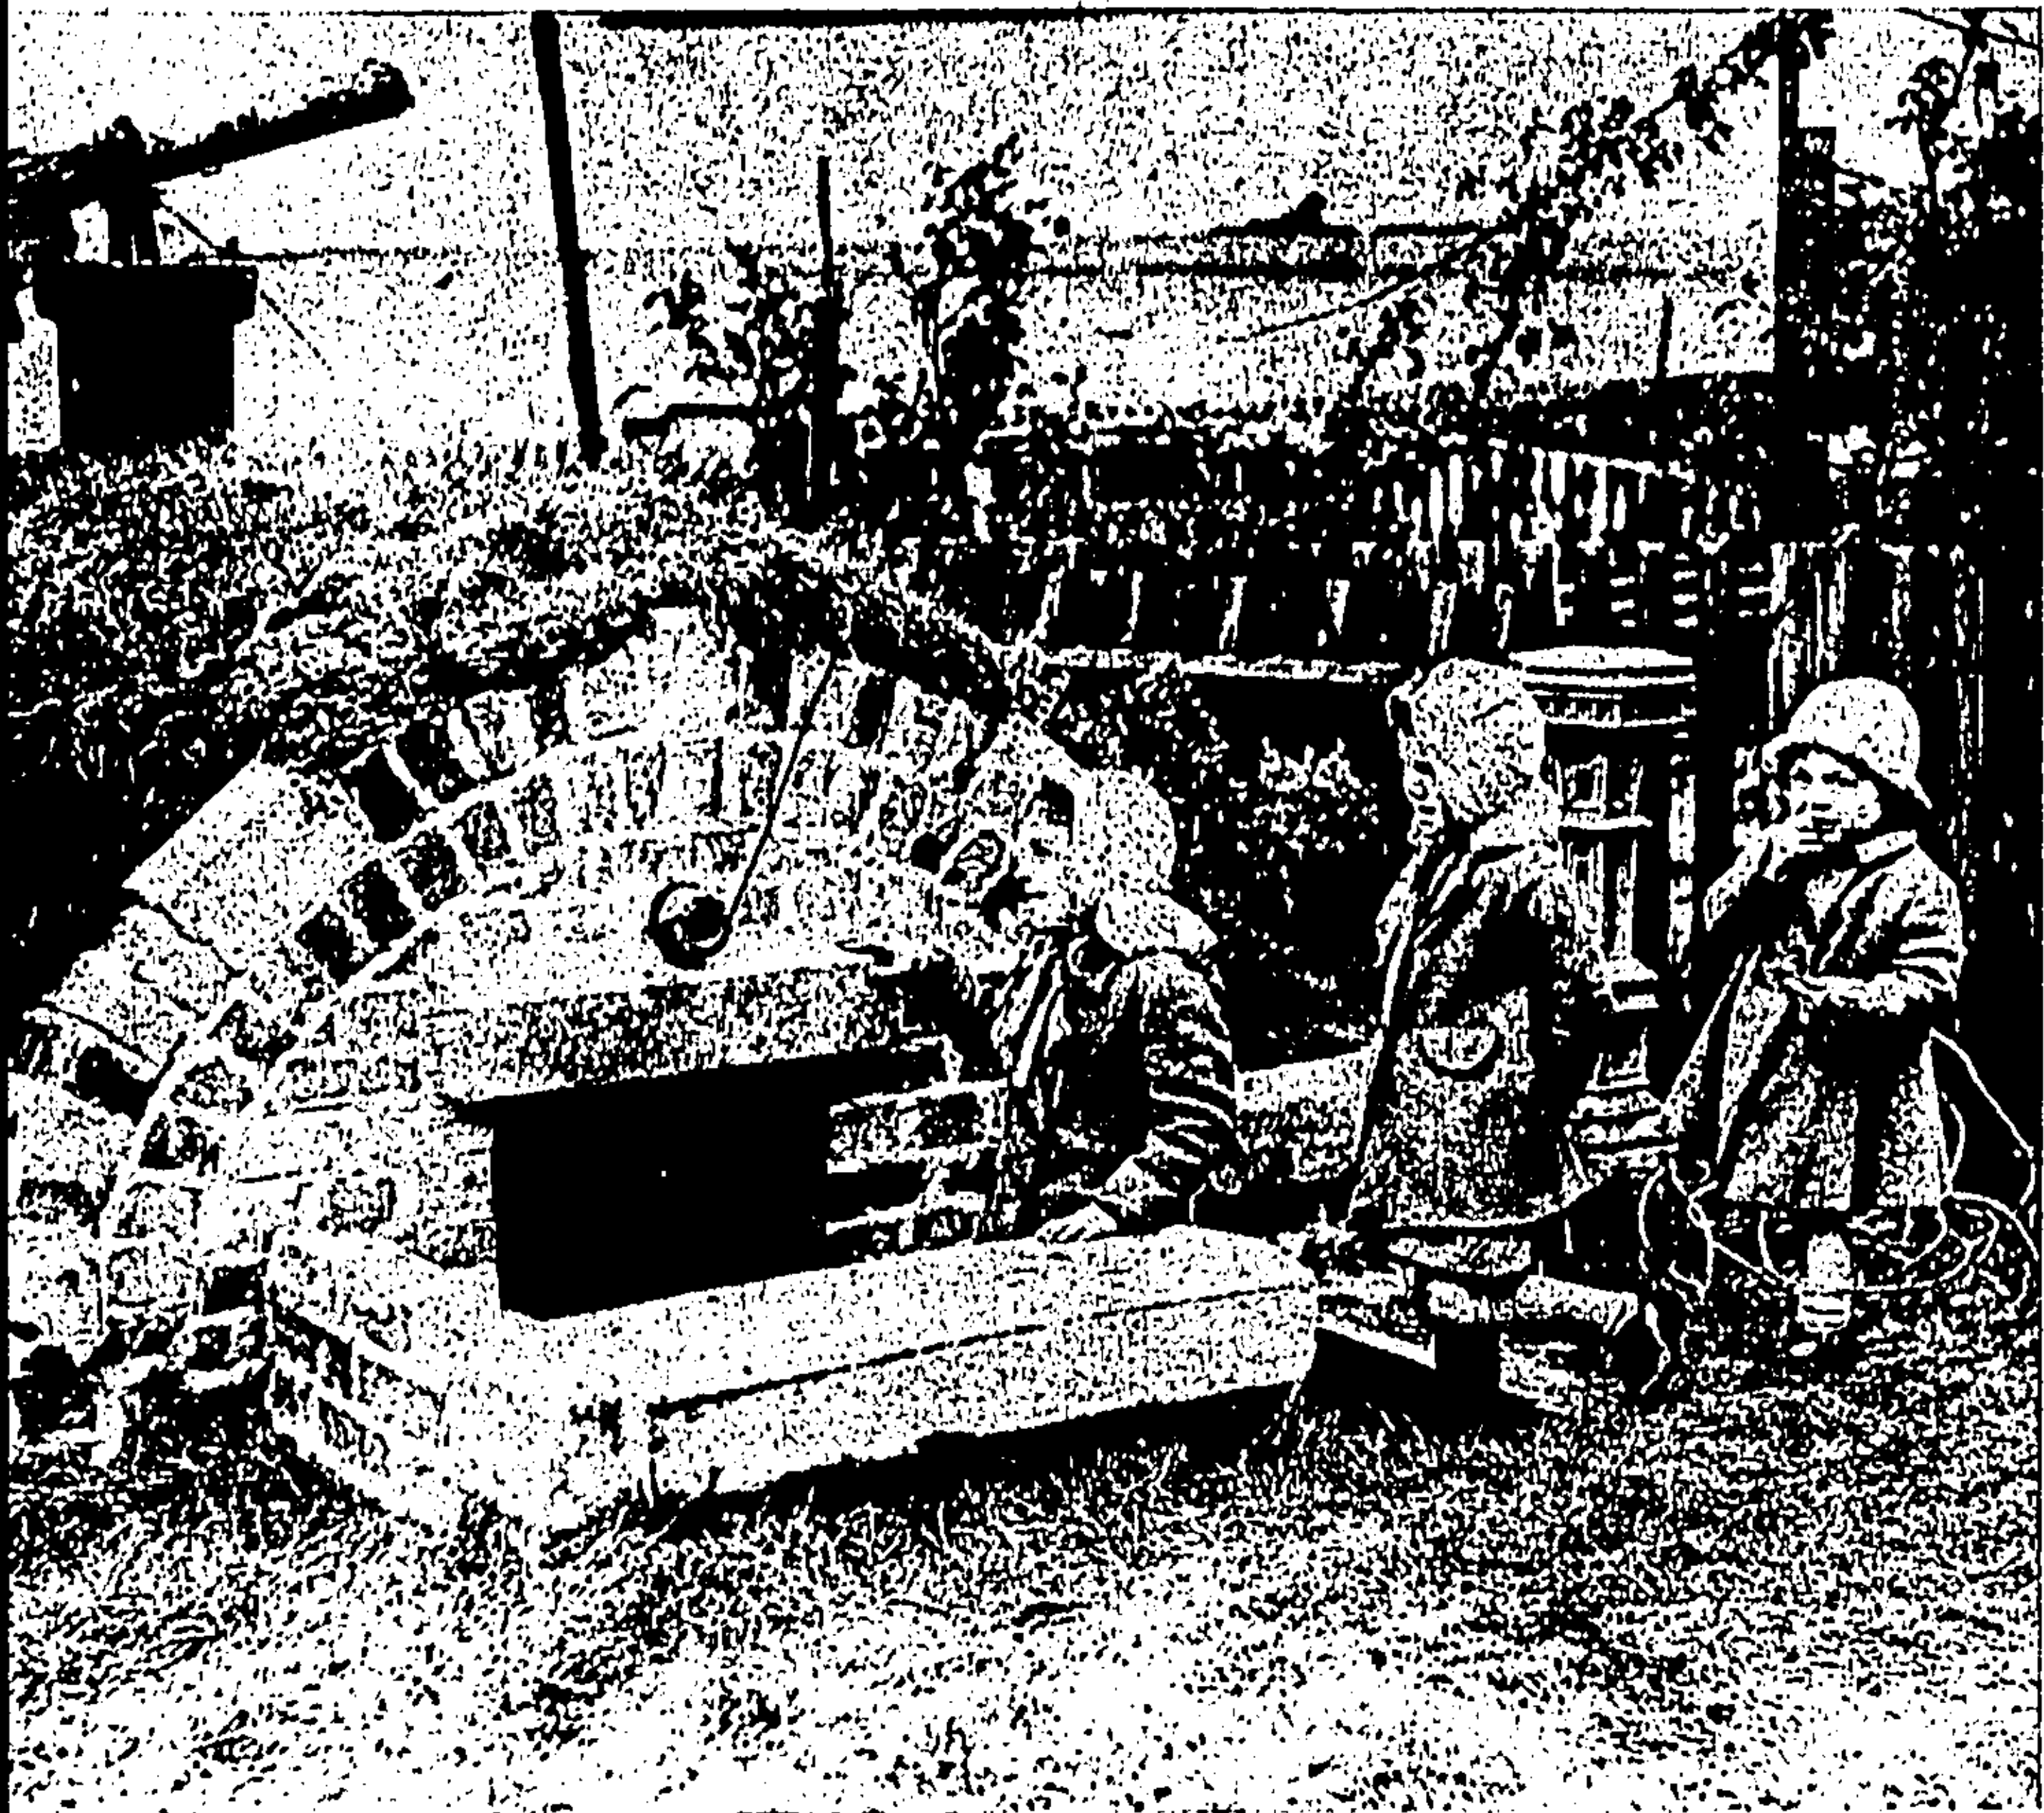

General Huntziger, commander to the French forces in Syria left by air yesterday for Antioch for the purpose of resuming General Staff conversations with the Turkish military mission.—Trans-Ocean.

NEW RECORD

Berlin, To-day.

A new gliding record has been set up by two members of the Sylt gliding school. Using a two seater glider of the Kranich type they kept in the air for 17 hours, 22 minutes, thus beating the existing world record by 5 hours, 18 minutes.

The flight was made off the chalk cliffs of the island of Sylt.—Trans-Ocean.

WN DUG-OUT AT HOME. A novel concrete brick-built dug-out, costing under £4, has been Ernest Matthews, Secretary of the Institute of Registered Architects, in the garden of his home Kent. On top is an old German machine-gun-relic of the Great War. (Copyright).

PARTITION OF PALESTINE

London, To-day.

There will be no avoidable delay in reaching a decision on the report of the Woodhead Commission regarding Palestine Partition.

This assurance was given by the Colonial Secretary at Commons question time.

Mr. Macdonald observed, however, that it was impossible to foretell when the Commission will be able to submit its report.

It will be recalled that he recently stated in commons that the Commission had been asked to expedite their work so far as possible.—British Wireless.

The R.M.S. "Empress of Russia" leaves Yokohama to-morrow at 8 a.m. and is due at Hong Kong on Thursday next week at 11 a.m.

KNOCKED TEN YEARS OFF HIS AGE

When He Got Rid of 35 lbs. of Fat

This man found he was carrying far too much weight. As is usually the case—with women as well as with men—his overweight made him appear older than his years. When he eventually got rid of 2½ stone of fat, he looked ten years younger. His letter tells you how he achieved this result:—

"I am 33 years of age and weighed 14 stone 10 lbs., yet my height was only 5 ft. 6 ins. I was looking older than my age. For about five months I kept up the 'daily dose' of Kruschen and I could see each week a gradual improvement all round. My friends, unaware of what I was doing, noticed this alteration of form, and in time it became quite a mystery that I should lose some 2½ stone so perfectly. My appearance and body form have improved so much that I look 10 years younger. I did not diet at all, nor did I do any special exercises."—A.A.D.

Kruschen is based on scientific principles—it is an ideal blend of mineral salts found in the aperient waters of European Spas resorted to by the wealthy for the reduction of excess weight.

Craigengower Have Bad Day

K.C.C. Offer Challenge To Leaders

MANY GOOD GAMES IN JUNIOR DIVISIONS

(By "SKIP")

CLUB De Recreio were in the limelight by reason of their fine away win against Craigengower, last Saturday, with F. X. Silva proving the hero of the side by reason of his convincing win over B. W. Bradbury, which turned the scales in favour of the Portuguese team. This win has placed them at the top of League, and although they have a lead of two points, it must be remembered that their latest victims have a game in hand.

Kowloon Cricket Club trounced the Kowloon Dock Club, Teddy Fincher again playing well to retain his unbeaten, but not 100 per cent. record. F. X. Silva's rink, by the way, is the only one to have won all its matches to date, (—) a great achievement.

The Kowloon Bowling Green Club were expected to beat the Civil Servants, but only succeeded in presenting the latter with their first point, whilst the Police had to struggle hard to secure a victory over the Indians.

Both Craigengower and Club de Recreio failed in the Second Division, and Kowloon Bowling Green Club took the opportunity to move to the top of the League, where the Football Club's "B" team, by reason of their win at King's Park, constitute their greatest danger.

VERY GOOD WIN

The position may well be changed as the result of next Saturday's games. It was Taikoo who overcame Craigengower, and in so doing secured one of their best wins for some time. The Police had a huge win against Football Club "A", who have done virtually nothing since May 14, in the Third Division. Kowloon Football Club continued to win handsomely, but the Yacht Club have yet to secure a point. The Hong Kong Electric Club consolidated their position as runners-up.

In the match at Craigengower, F. X. Silva ran into a useful lead of 7 shots before B. W. Bradbury opened his account, and he never looked back. In a really thrilling game, every player was brilliant at times, but Jackie Noronha made the victory possible by sound play, as Silva's lead. He lay the shot or else had the position nearly every head, and the home skip used many of his side's woods in efforts to secure an advantageous lie.

The 19th head was a great one for Bradbury. With Recreio lying 3 or 4 beauties, he carried the jack to secure 4 himself. It was a great effort and he was unfortunate in not repeating it on the very last head when needing only three to tie, he actually moved the jack only to see it go to Noronha's wood, where it was virtually hidden.

HEAVY DRIVE

Carlos Silva had one of the heaviest drives on record at one head and after a series of wicks (of which the on-lookers lost count) he sat right on top of the jack!

U. M. Omar and Dick Alves had a close game and after being all square at tea, when incidentally the visitors were one up all round, the home skip secured a lead of half-a-dozen, only for the opposition to make a great fight in the last 3 heads to win back 5 of them and so lose by a singleton.

A. A. Remedios played an outstanding shot when the enemy were lying a couple, right in front of the jack: With a pound or two on, he split these perfectly to run on and secure the shot right on the kitty.

Dick Basa, playing against Raoul Luz, had a similar shot which secured him a couple and he eventually overcame his old adversary by 7 shots. The latter was lying 4 or 5 on the last head, when Basa drew the shot: with all the back stuff and needing a big count, he risked losing this one to carry the jack, but just missed by a hair's breadth.

C.S.C.C. DO WELL

The Civil Servants did well to share the points with the Kowloon Bowling Green Club, although it must be admitted that the shot which achieved the result, the last of the match, was a trifle fortunate.

With Ernie Lines having finished half a dozen to the bad, and Joe Meyer being 4 up on Jack Hollidge, Bob Duncan lay four with his last wood to come. With just enough weight George Sherriff came up too narrow, but rubbing another wood ran on through a port to obtain the third shot. Spectators, incidentally, thought that both skips played the wrong hand, but that is by the way. Duncan did well to win, as at one time he was 14—1 down. True, he was not at all well when the game commenced, but he did better when the indisposition passed off, and the rink then actually scored 18 to their opponents' 3.

GOOD RECOVERY

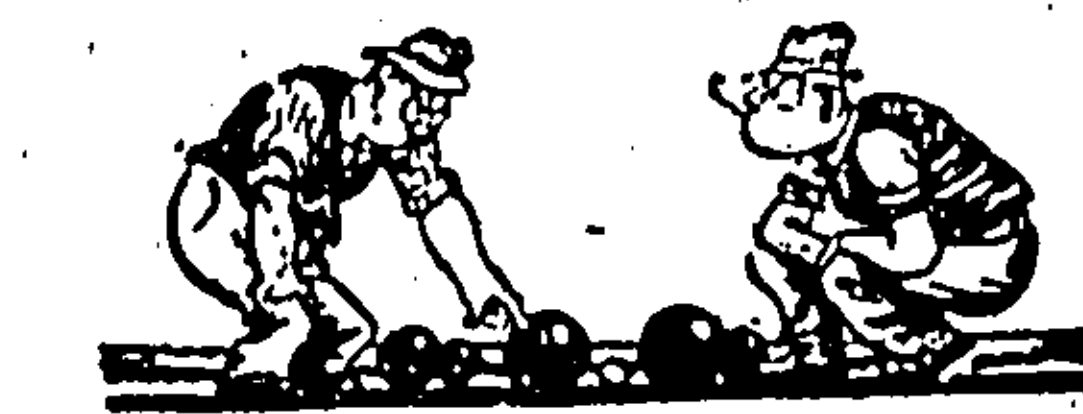

It was a good recovery in which all the visitors joined: To begin with, the home team were very good, Gellatly especially shining, whilst both McGowan and Sherriff kept adding to the count. Randle secured his first win of the season against Lines, and was good value for it, as Frank Cheesman was deadly in his drawing and was beating Cook all the time. Dai Davies had a slight edge on Alec Macfarlane, and improved matters a little, whilst Simmonds was just the better of two mediocre Number Threes. Sam Randle played a good game and was always pretty handy, but Lines was a shade short on one or two vital occasions.

Jack Hollidge and Joe Meyer had a close game throughout, the latter securing his win by scoring 6 shots in the last 3 heads, Norman was leading well for him, whilst A. J. Hall put in some beautiful shots, Jack Hollidge having to break up the head on more than one occasion.

MAIR'S GOOD WIN

The Police took the points from the Indians chiefly by reason of Mair's win over Arculli, whom he beat by 9 shots, seven of which were accrued in the last four ends. Both Cameron and Tallon played well to secure the advantage of Khan and Wahab, respectively, the latter especially being off his game. Abbas and Shepherd, the third men, were equally good, whilst the two skips were always altering the heads by good play.

After a rather shaky start, in the course of which he lost a couple of nap hands, A. K. Minu, making his debut as skip, pulled up very well to be down eventually by only 2 shots to Ted Post. Dallah came right back to form and play very well, whilst the Police four were all good. Carey was leading Adal by 15—11 three-quarters of the way through, but the visiting skip then obtained three 4's in succession and finished up with a majority of half-a-dozen shots, thanks mainly to the younger Minu, who changed places with his brother in the team.

DOCKS COLLAPSE

Kowloon Docks collapsed surprisingly against the Kowloon Cricket Club and finished 24 to the bad, of which Teddy Fincher obtained 21 against Fred Cullen. Leading by 7 shots to 1 when the sixth head began, the latter was allowed to score on only two more ends, scoring 3 shots whilst his opponent tallied just ten times that number. The home team played well to a man, whilst Kempton and Coleman were both steady in the Dock rink.

Ernie Kern overcame McKelvie by half a dozen and had to thank Vic Labrum, as he was able to beat Alec Calman, who was inclined to be short, on this heavy green.

"REVIEWER'S" SPORTS COMMENTARY

Test Incidents

The following Test match matters may prove an interesting supplement to others given. W. E. Midwinter is not the only man who has played for Australia and England. In 1877, he represented Australia v. England, in Australia. Then he played for England v. Australia (1882-3), also in Australia. He carried on the curious work by coming to England and playing for Australia here, in 1884. Then he returned to Australia, and once more played against England.

J. J. Ferris, after representing Australia v. England (1887 to 1890), played for England against South Africa, 1892. A. E. Trott had a similar experience, in respectively 1895 and 1899, while S. M. J. Woods, the famous English Rugby internationalist, was similarly honoured in 1888 and 1886. Perhaps the strangest turnover was that of W. L. Murdoch, a man with Scottish blood who was in the English eleven against South Africa in Ferris' year. Previously, he had played for Australia 18 times against England. His 153 not out was the first Australia Test century in England, in 1880.

In these days when cricketers get 1000 runs in a month, it reads strangely that Australia aggregate only 1020 in twelve innings between January, 1887, and August, 1888.

The strain of Australia's 7 runs win in 1882 was too much for an Oval spectator, who fell dead.

Voce To Give Up Fast Bowling

Voce, the Nottinghamshire and England fast left-arm bowler, has been advised by his doctor to give up fast bowling for a time. Voce developed fluid on the knee during the match with Middlesex at Lord's last month. Voce may revert to slow spin bowling.

He started cricket with this type of bowling, and has often returned to it when conditions are suitable.

John Henry Lewis' Title At Stake

John Henry Lewis, light-heavyweight champion of the world, has signed to meet Al. Gainer, the Connecticut coloured fighter, in a world's title bout in Pittsburgh in the middle of August. Lewis and Gainer met two years ago, when the former won on points over 12 rounds.

Lewis' manager, Gus Greenlee, states that the winner will meet Adolf Heuser, the I.B.U. world's light-heavyweight champion, in Berlin in a fight to find a champion common to both the I.B.U. and the American bodies.

Farr To Appeal

Tommy Farr's legal adviser stated yesterday that he was lodging an appeal against the decision of the Stewards of the British Boxing Board of Control ordering Farr to pay £750 to Mr. Sydney Hulls, Harringay promoter, for alleged breach of contract.

Record Broken

Charles Holland, the professional cyclist, gained his first road record yesterday by covering the 210 miles from Liverpool to Edinburgh in 10 hours—an average of 21 miles an hour. He beat the previous best time of Frank Southall by 12 minutes.

half-a-dozen shortly afterwards. Wally Glendenning was quite happy skipping again and he had a more than useful win against Jack Rodger, whose four could not get going properly. The home were too good all round.

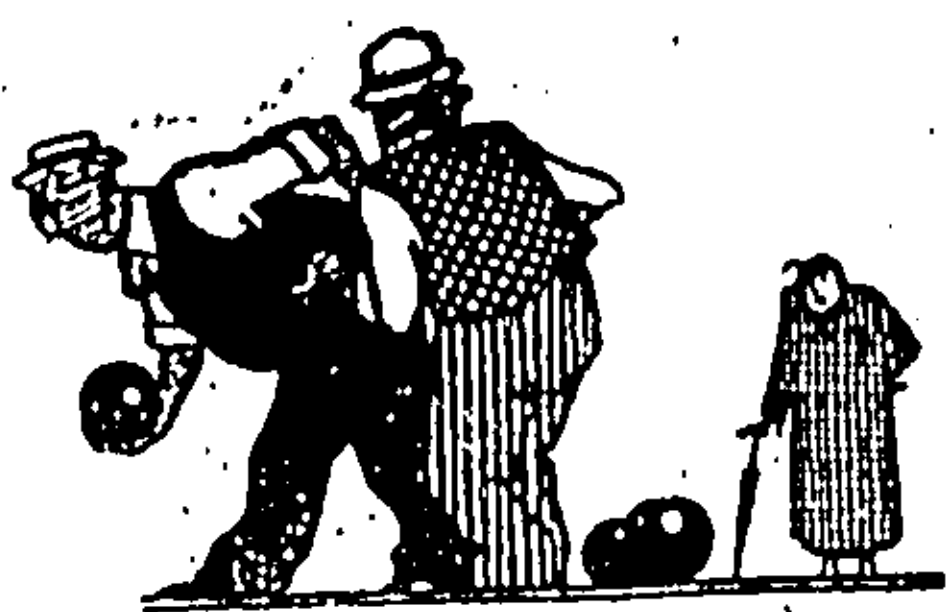

There was a close game between Booker and Brooksbank before the former won out by a small margin, in spite of good support from Bebbington.

NEW RINK SHINE

George Moss had an entirely new rink in the match between the Police and the Football Club "A" team, and they certainly ran riot against Walter Gill's four, piling up no less than 41 shots to their opponents' 14, which included a 5 count. Not to be out-done the home four replied with a count of

INTERESTING LAWN BOWLS ENCOUNTER

Railway Rink Meet
U.S.R.C.

An interesting lawn bowls match took place recently between the newly formed Railway Bowls rink and the United Service Recreation Club, on the latter's new green.

The pick of the players were Major Parkes, of the U.S.R.C. and E. S. Carter, of the Railway team.

The new bowling green of the U.S.R.C. will certainly prove a boon to lawn bowlers in Kowloon, as no doubt the Lawn Bowls Association will try and play some of its open tournament games next year, on this ground and thus save the Kowloon bowlers from making a journey to Hong Kong, for a netural ground.

If the U.S.R.C. contemplate entering a team in the League next year, a few friendly rink games would prove an asset to them.

The following was the result:—A. E. Perry, J. B. Trevor, A. J. C. Taylor and E. S. Carter (Railway) beat Dr. Henry, Capt. Williams, Major Parkes and Dr. Smalley (skip) 20—18.

OPEN PAIRS BOWLS RESULTS

In the Open Pairs Lawn Bowls championship yesterday K. M. Omar and A. S. Gomes entered another round of the competition when they beat A. W. Hodges and A. Brooksbank 33-15 at the Civil Service C.C.

R. Ellis and F. E. Booker beat F. Channing and C. Dowman 16-14 after an exciting game.

C.B.C. GALA ON SATURDAY

The Chinese Bathing Club, North Point, will hold their second night fete next Saturday, June 25, commencing at 7.30 p.m.

The following events will be open to the Colony:—

Ladies' 200 metres Relay Race.

Men's 200 metres Breast-stroke.

Men's 100 metres Free-style.

Ladies' 100 metres Back-stroke.

Among the various events there will be a display of Figure of Formation, the first of its kind ever to be held in the Colony.

Hugh Gallacher Moves Once More

Hugh Gallacher, Scottish international centre forward, was on June 8 transferred from Grimsby Town to Gateshead, which will be his sixth English League club.

It is understood Grimsby put Gallacher on the transfer list at £500, so his transfers have cost football clubs almost £23,000, as the following fees show:—

1925, Airdrieonians to Newcastle	£6,500
1930, Newcastle to Chelsea	£10,000
1934, Chelsea to Derby	£8,000
1936, Derby to Notts County	£2,000

Defeats Von Metaxa In Stirring Duel

HELEN JACOBS FAINTS IN DRESSING ROOM

BRIT. ARMY OFFICER'S SUCCESS

London, To-day.

The outstanding feature of yesterday's play at the Wimbledon Lawn Tennis Championships was the magnificent victory achieved by Kho Sin-kie, of China, over Von Metaxa, the former Austrian and now German Davis Cup player, the former winning after four sets.

Miss Helen Hull Jacobs (U.S.A.), who has not been in the best of health recently, fainted in her dressing room yesterday while preparing for her second round match against Miss Joan Ingram (Gt. B.). The English girl very sportingly agreed to have the match postponed.

Miss Gem Hoahing, making her first appearance at Wimbledon, did not survive the second round, making her exit against Miss Thelma Coyne, of Australia, who proved more than a match for her diminutive opponent.

Gem was no match for the hard hitting Miss Coyne and was continually pinned to the baseline, where she was retrieving pluckily, while Miss Coyne stormed the net, volleying cleverly. Miss Hoahing was uncertain in her service and although she led by 3 games to 2 in the first set, she was outplayed for the remainder of the match.

KHO'S SPECTACULAR DISPLAY

The Kho Sin-kie-Metaxa match attracted a large gathering of spectators, the Chinese giving a spectacular display, although the German's kicking first service, in the first set, proved very troublesome. Kho Sin-kie, however, showed amazing anticipation and soon broke through the German's service, but both players fell flat in attempting to retrieve each other's fast drives down the sidelines.

In the second set von Metaxa led Kho by 3 games to 1 and eventually secured the set at 6-3; in the third the German exploited an amazing drop-shot, but the fleet-footed Chinese player not only retrieved magnificently, but scored winners from seemingly impossible returns. Rain interrupted play at this stage.

CHOY'S EFFORT

On the resumption Kho's hard driving on both hands forced the German into many errors from which he found it hard to rally and so the Bournemouth Hardcourt Champion entered the Third Round.

In another interesting second round encounter, Roderick Menzel, of Czechoslovakia, led W. C. Choy, of China 7-5, 3-6, 2-2 when rain stopped play for the day.

W. C. Choy started magnificently against Roderick Menzel and was leading by 5 games to 2 in the first set when the Czech made a fine recovery, chiefly due to his fine serving. Choy took the second set, however, and the score was 2-2 in the third set when rain interrupted play.

Gene Mako, the American and Wimbledon Doubles Champion, had an exciting tussle against C. E. Malfroy, of New Zealand, the match going to five sets before being decided in favour of the American.

ARMY OFFICER'S WIN

An upset occurred when Henderson Brooks, a British Army officer, beat Koch, the German Davis Cup player, in a five set struggle.

Miss Panna Jedrzejowska, the runner-up in the Ladies' Singles last year, was fully extended by Mrs. M. R. King, the non-playing captain of the British Wightman Cup team. The British player gave a fine aggressive display, forcing the Polish lady into many errors, while the latter found it difficult to get her service going.

MINOR UPSET

Another minor upset occurred when G. S. Lyttleton-Rodgers, the giant Eire Davis Cup player, beat M. Pallada, of Yugoslavia, in four sets.

Deloford, a promising young British player, fully extended Henner Henkel, the former French and present German Champion, although the latter won in straight sets.

Results as cabled by Reuter, were:

MILD UPSET

Club de Recreio created a mild surprise by going down to the Football Club "B" who had Frank Haynes to thank for their points, although their other two rinks had a minority of only 3 shots between them.

Haynes was drawn against J. J. Basto and had matters his own way right from the beginning: Carter, as third man, was useful, whilst Syd Strange did well to hold Machado as lead. F. X. Soares retained his leadership in the Skips' table by reason of a small victory over Jake Selby, whilst B. Basto for whom Charlie Silva was good, had an even closer win against "Jan" Tuck, who pulled up well late in the game.

K.B.G.C. TOO GOOD

At Austin Road, Kowloon Bowling Green Club had plenty in hand against the Civil Servants, with Ted Thompson scoring a big win over "Timber" Wood. His rink, of whom Drew was an excellent second man, were far too good for the opposition.

Drake and Hillyer were neck-and-neck until the former chalked up a couple of threes in the last two ends. Syd Eckelshall had the only win for the visitors in a low-scoring game against Tommy Armstrong, in which 14 singles were recorded.

The Kowloon Football Club, secured another win on Saturday, their victims this time being Craigengower for whom only Lilliecap was able to win, and that narrowly. Field was a round dozen to the good against Zimmern, whilst Joe Gibson, after being led 9-15, blanked out A. E. S. Alves to win by a baker's half-dozen, Vic Chittenden especially shining in the belated revival.

ELECTRIC WIN

The Hong Kong Electric team won on two rinks to secure the points from Club de Recreio, for whom Eddie Sousa did well to beat Paul.

Kowloon Cricket Club had a narrow squeak against the Football Club "C", Walker finishing up sensationally with 6 and 2, in the last heads, and Trenchgrove chalking up a couple of twos at the same time.

Jimmy Jack, however was handing it out in similar strain and scored seven in these last two ends to secure a one-shot win.

The Yacht Club seem unable to make headway, but the way they turn up smiling each week is much to their credit, as sportsmen. Kowloon Tong took the points last Saturday, all rinks sharing the spoils.

TRUMP LEADS

To-day's hand involves the question of whether or not to play trumps when holding a long side suit that must be established. South opened with two spades on a hand which seemed reasonably certain to produce game. When North made a positive response showing a sure trick, South not unreasonably invited a slam and North nobly responded with the bid of six spades. Then South proceeded to throw away his small slam.

West won the first trick with the King of clubs. After trumping the second club lead, Declarer led two rounds of trumps and then played the Ace, King and another heart trumping in dummy. Then, since hearts were not divided Declarer was set one, finally conceding a heart trick. Now the vital question arises, should Declarer have played any trumps before establishing the heart suit and if so, how many rounds?

Obviously, Declarer cannot draw all the trumps; he must ruff at least one heart in dummy. If each opponent holds three hearts, it matters not whether one or two rounds of trumps are played, hence we must assume that one opponent holds four. The question now arises, should Declarer play any trumps? The answer is yes, exactly one round. Why? For safety purposes. Nothing can be lost by playing one round of trumps; there will still be a sufficient number left in dummy. And if as was actually the case, the opponent with only two hearts also holds no more than one trump, the Ace of trumps will remove his only trump and the two losing hearts can then be safely ruffed in dummy. Finally, if the opponent who is short in hearts holds more than one trump the hand cannot be made.

Schmeling Down Three Times In Only Round

In sensationally beating Max Schmeling in the first round of their scheduled 15-round bout, Joe Louis retained his world heavyweight boxing title. Schmeling was floored three times before the referee stopped the fight and after Schmeling's seconds had thrown in the towel.

Louis went in from the bell like a raging fury and, although he was knocked out by Schmeling two years ago, he showed no signs of fear, his stunning blows to the jaw soon placing his opponent in a bad way.

The result of the fight flabbergasted the 80,000 spectators who paid huge sums to witness the fight.

Schmeling, interviewed after the fight said it was the very first punch which beat him, a hard right-swinger which caught him over the left kidney and absolutely paralysed him. He could not straighten up or even think, it was such an absolutely wicked blow.

Joe Louis said that none of Schmeling's blows had hurt him, but he didn't reckon that he could finish him inside of two rounds.

A hundred thousand wireless fans listening in, to the fight in Berlin were thunderstruck with the result and seemed very dazed that such a thing could happen.—Reuter.

New York, To-day.

A tremendous gathering of 80,000 spectators saw Joe Louis, the Detroit Negro and holder of the world heavyweight boxing championship, beat Max Schmeling, of Germany, on a technical knockout in the first round of their 15 round bout, Referee Arthur Donovan stepping between the two boxers after 2 mins. 4 seconds, when the German's handler's threw in their towel.

It was the most sensational ending to a heavyweight title bout expected to go the full distance, and, in battering his German opponent, to a standstill, Joe Louis fully avenged his knockout at the hands of Schmeling, on June 19, 1936.

The large gathering, some of whom paid fabulous sums for ring-side seats, included film stars, actors, actresses and former champions of the ring.

After a little sparring, Joe Louis sent in three quick lefts to the German's jaw, causing the latter to cover up. Louis continued his attack and three more lefts landed on Schmeling's jaw, the German retaliating with a light right-handed blow to the jaw.

Schmeling's face was red and Louis's blows were evidently having the desired effect. The champion was watching his opponent like a cat watching a mouse and waiting for his cue.

Schmeling landed a punch to the Negro's body, but Louis bored in and scored with a powerful left and right to the jaw and then got home with another left and right to the jaw which staggered Schmeling, who hung on to the ropes where he took a terrible beating.

Schmeling went down heavily, but got up after the timekeeper had counted two. But once again the German went down to again beat the count. Then Louis slammed in a terrific right hook and put Schmeling on the floor for a third time and, at this stage, it was impossible to hear how many seconds the timekeeper counted, but Referee Arthur Donovan stepped in, and helped Max to his feet, at the same time waving Louis away to his corner.

Police sprang into the ring and the fight was over when Schmeling's handlers threw in the towel. The fight had lasted exactly two minutes and four seconds.—Reuter.
